Strength and weakness of department

Strength

- Bhutia department has been encouraging the students to visit the field for data collection in order to understand a topic that requires practical experience. Such as, to understand organic farming students are ask to visit farms where organic vegetables are grown to see and learn the process for themselves.
- The interaction not only develops an understanding but also helps them gain micro life experiences that are memorable and enriching.
- Bhutia department also has a Acharya Karma Namgyal Bhutia who is a Masters in Bhutia and also holds a Masters in Buddhist philosophy which helps bring the in depth knowledge required to explain many subjects in the syllabus.

Weakness

- Bhutia department has many students who are not from the Bhutia Community itself. The classes we take are particularly instructed in Bhutia language. Hence, many students who are not from the same community face issue in comprehension. The department is holding extra session to help students but due to limited number of faculties it is difficult to maintain consistency in the teaching learning experience.
